The Franklin Revolution Is About To Unfold.

The World's Finest
Electronic Reference Products.

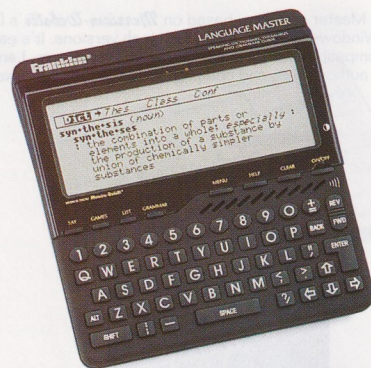

• A Revolution in Reference •

In 1986, Franklin Electronic Publishers introduced the world's first electronic phonetic spelling corrector, the Franklin Spelling Ace®, and changed the future of reference forever.

Since then, Franklin has created an entire library of state-of-the-art electronic reference products, including the world's first dictionaries, thesauruses, electronic Bibles, true bilingual dictionaries, even an electronic encyclopedia. To top it off, there's a line of speaking products, from the world's first speaking dictionary to the all-new Speaking Ace™. All Franklin products are backed by the most authoritative databases, from Merriam-Webster's® dictionaries and thesauruses to COLLINS foreign language dictionaries, and easy-to-use technology.

As the undisputed leader in the field of electronic publishing, Franklin products are helping people worldwide to improve spelling, reading and writing skills, and also to enhance their ability to communicate, express their ideas, and understand the world we live in.
